Sep 2, 2015 Nov 15, 2017 The enthusiasm of the young people and the particular affability of the Holy Father were one of the most satisfying elements of the Second World Congress of the ACNP. However, the great majority of the three hundred delegates were waiting for the first addresses by the two Holy Fathers, Don Luigi Poggi and Father Federico Lombardi. The Holy Father, in a greeting which he shared with all his visitors, recalled the beginning of the Vatican II Council and the preparatory meetings that had begun to frame the reforms that are to be made in the Council had come from the young people and, as they were still new, there was a real feeling of surprise that they should be given such an important place. The Holy Father then responded to a few questions that had been asked, mainly regarding the new synodality and episcopal collegiality proposed in the document. He also assured the young people that, if they had provided the proposals, they could certainly count on his good offices, if only for the sake of good will. Then, after a lively and even hilarious discussion in the audience, the Holy Father continued his greetings. He had just mentioned that he would have liked to have witnessed, at least in part, the animation which he himself had participated, and, he then added: "It hank you for your enthusiasm, and I hope that I have reciprocated in a few minutes
