I installed intellij idea on my ubuntu 16.04 and I want to see my maven dependencies in project structure. I first installed maven and added my self to the group and now when I do mvn dependency:copy-dependencies it does not copy the dependencies. If I do mvn dependency:find-dependencies it does not show any artifacts. I also tried to add the group by adding export MAVEN_REPO_ID="group id" to my.bashrc and now I have a list of artifacts and everything works.

But when I try to import it in intellij idea all the jars get automatically updated to version 1.2.3.4 So my question is how do I import the dependencies without having to add the group id to my environment? My environment is Hibernate-orm:5.2.10.Final Jetty:9.2.z-SNAPSHOT and I have installed the latest version of intellij idea A: I have the same problem and solve the problem adding the export M2_HOME=/usr/local/Cellar/maven/3.5.0/libexec Another solution (for me) was to create a dummy project and add all the dependencies there. You can configure IntelliJ for your dummy project, and then when you import that dummy project into the main project, all your dependencies are imported without problems. Predicting early survival following acute myocardial infarction. The importance of clinical and therapeutic implications. Patients who survive the first 4 hours after an acute myocardial infarction (AMI) with cardiac arrest have the best chance for recovery and possibly long-term survival. This report describes a large observational study, AMIS (First Aid for AMI Study), that used a novel statistical technique to estimate survival up to 4 hours after AMI among 6,765 patients presenting in situ (98.5%) and 3329
