

---

edited in New York. The movie was made for the estimated budget of Rs. 350 million. The film is an Indian remake of the Turkish fantasy film Babam, but with a different plot and with different actors playing the roles. Muhsin Tyab, Sajid-Farhad's son, is the composer and the film's lyricist. The soundtrack of Fanaa was released on 18 August 2006, with the music being composed by Jatin-Lalit and lyrics penned by Irshad Kamil. The film's soundtrack, in addition to being extremely popular, was also nominated for a 2006 IIFA Award for "Best Song in a Foreign Language". Plot Zooni is a blind girl whose parents are deceased. Her uncle, Syed Waheed Ali Shah, decides to marry her to his son, Mohammad Iqbal, an illiterate teenager. She is forcefully taken to Mohammad's house where the young man immediately becomes obsessed with her, and then makes a game out of it with the neighbouring children. He takes advantage of her good-natured innocence to convince her that he will not ever cheat her or abandon her. He takes her home several times, and promises to take care of her. At the height of the summer vacation, Zooni meets Rehan at an outdoor dance party. Rehan is unaware of Zooni's existence and believes her to be a magician. He invites her to a party at his place, and then starts fooling around with her. Rehan is unaware that Zooni is blind. He also believes that she is an artificial creation of her uncle, a computer scientist, and that the girl is the result of advanced DNA research that he has done. He wants to take advantage of her beauty, and to that end, he decides to marry her 2d92ce491b