The antivirus industry is continuously evolving, and over the years AV-Comparatives has grown to become a leading independent test laboratory for computer security. An important milestone in AV-Comparatives history has just been reached: over two thousand days and more than fifty thousand test results later, we have now conducted more than 13 thousand tests. While there are many aspects to AV-Comparatives, the one that we are most proud of and excited about is the testing method. First and foremost, it means that we have been testing antivirus as it was released since 2004 and we have been doing this on a monthly basis, starting in October 2004. In addition, we have also been doing quarterly updates on a six month basis. This fact alone is the reason why we are an important reference for an industry that has a history of turnover, that is, coming up with new methods, trying to differentiate and to gain more and more market share. What's new in AV-Comparatives 2017? There is still one thing that we have never done: we have always tested new releases of security software as they come out. What does this mean? It means that for more than a decade, we have been test-driving the newest antivirus solutions in an attempt to find the most efficient ones, without having to change test protocol. As we did it before, we keep doing it right now. What does that mean? It means that AV-Comparatives remains the only test laboratory that is still testing new AV in the same way as we did ten years ago. Why is this important? Because we want you to understand the state-of-the-art antivirus solutions. This is why we test
