
Kelloggs Mission Nutrition

Mission Kellogg's on Steam Games. An advergame starring Tony the Tiger, Dig'Em Frog and Coco the Monkey. Known in the UK as Kellogg's Mission Nutrition. Tony the Tiger, Dig'Em Frog and Coco the Monkey: Back to Nature. Since I can remember to kid, I remember playing the Kellogg's "Mission Nutrition" CD-ROM. I don't know how old I was at the time, I just know that I was a kid. The reason I remember Kellogg's "Mission Nutrition" so well is probably because of the characters in the game. From the first time I found Tony the Tiger, Dig'Em Frog and Coco the Monkey in Mission Nutrition, I have been a fan. Tony the Tiger: Worth the wait, Mighty Mouse, I've got a surprise for you! Mission Nutrition is a very famous advertising game where Kellogg's made a series of platform games where you get different characters to be a hunter. In the first game Kellogg's did four variations in the "Tony the Tiger" platform, four games for all four different regions. Well, by now, Kellogg's has been producing three platform games where a Kellogg's character will be a new character. So now there are three games about Kellogg's characters where you can choose your favorite, depending on the region you live in. A Kellogg's Mission where you have to collect elements and evolve. Get enough coins to be able to evolve your pet towards one of the Kellogg's characters. Train your own animal and make them stronger to evolve, stronger pets need more coins. The last thing is to help Tony the Tiger and his partner, Coco the Monkey to save their own habitat. Your mission is to travel through nine different levels, each level has its own first level maps. It can be really cool to reach the end of the game and realize that you were able to collect all the elements. Help Tony and Coco the Monkey to reach the end of the level. Make sure you understand the instructions before starting. It will help you a lot. A Kellogg's Mission where you have to collect elements and evolve.
