I believe that the majority of the Google Desktop Search utilities I have tried so far are built for Windows XP and below. It would be interesting to see a utility that can be used with Mac OS X. I'm a little disappointed by the lack of a version for Linux (though apparently Linux users can try using Wine). I'm pleased to see that I finally get a version for Chrome. All applications I have tried so far require constant updates to be supported. I love the design of this one. I love the interface of this one. Overall b7e8fdf5c8
