The evaluation of gastrointestinal malignancies is a multistep process with important clinical and imaging correlations. Frosting the Camera - La Cucaracha This is a poem I wrote about a month ago. I felt the need to share it, in hopes that someone might pick it up and read it and take a step further with what I wrote. Just like the song, this poem should be so good, yet so bad. Unprepared, I put my heart into it. I'm walking around in a cold cloud of uncertainty while this song plays in my head. This isn't how it should work. This is my fault for pushing. Unfettered love, one of the biggest mistakes a couple can make is "to let it go." I always try to temper how hard it is to give up something, to change someone's mind, to keep on pushing for that one thing that's important to you. It's one of the biggest mistakes I've made in my life. I've been trying to make it happen since the dawn of time. This is the thing that puts a nail in the coffin. It's like the limbo song from the movie "The Unbirthday Cake." It's everywhere. When you find someone you want to be with, everything else becomes a minor nuisance. You don't ever have to step outside of your comfort zone, because everything, from the texting to the eye contact to the kissing, is all a ritual that separates you from another human being. There are
