Which cities have 2-star apartments for the cheapest price in the world? - vitius ===== mtmail Duplicate? [A boy is one of four who was killed in an incident of 'child marriage' in Himachal Pradesh's Mandi district, an official said. (Photo: PTI) Simplicity and comforts of childhood The death of a three-year-old girl in Himachal Pradesh's Shimla was a tragic end to what was believed to be a sweet and uncomplicated romance. The girl's parents had proposed her union with a man from a different community because she was in love with him. The boy, too, was from a different caste. Her father was not averse to the alliance and had even paid a dowry to the boy's family. The couple was married in the presence of the girl's parents and some other relatives. Later, however, the girl's stepmother and her grandmother apparently hatched a plot against her. The family even tried to revive their relationship, and instead began to nurse her. But the girl refused to eat and died the following day. The local police in Himachal Pradesh has filed a case of culpable homicide not amounting to murder and an inquiry into the death will be conducted to ascertain the actual cause of death. The incident came under the public eye only recently, after a journalist in Himachal Pradesh wrote to the police seeking a detailed investigation. Himachal Pradesh is a state that doesn't have a history of cases of child marriage, but the state government is now mulling legislation to outlaw child marriage. The Supreme Court has declared that child marriage is unconstitutional and has called for amendments to the Indian Constitution to ensure the safety of the girl child. In fact, the number of child marriages in the country has been on the rise. About one in four (24%) girls in India marry in their teens. About one in ten (11%) girls aged 15-19 are married
