Bladder cancer treatment on Agroha options at our hospital range from non-invasive therapies to advanced surgical interventions. For early-stage cancer, options like transurethral resection of bladder tumors (TURBT) can often be highly effective. This minimally invasive technique removes tumors via the urethra, allowing patients to avoid major surgery and recover faster. Additionally, we offer intravesical therapy, where medications are delivered directly into the bladder to target cancer cells while minimizing systemic side effects.

For more advanced cases, our surgical team is skilled in performing cystectomies—partial or total removal of the bladder—as well as reconstructive surgery when necessary. Furthermore, chemotherapy, immunotherapy, and radiation therapy are available as part of our integrated cancer treatment program. Each patient receives a treatment plan designed to target their specific stage of cancer, with a focus on maximizing quality of life and long-term survival.

Our holistic approach to cancer care extends beyond treatment. We provide support services, including counseling, nutritional guidance, and regular follow-up care to help patients and their families navigate the challenges of a cancer diagnosis and recovery.
